"The Christian Gospel was first announced in the Pacific by missionaries from Europe. However, within two to three decades of this announcement, the young Christian communities of the Islands were sending out their own missionaries. In the 150 years after 1820, over 1200 Pacific Islanders served as Christian missionaries. Many of them were the 'pioneers' in the places to which they were sent. In this book, published in the 30th year of the Pacific Theological College, authors of both European and Islander backgrounds examine the very significant work, impact and influence of these Pacific Island Missionaries.." Click here to Order

~The first major step on the road to Australian federation was not, as is sometimes thought, the formation by Henry Parkes, J. D. Lang and others of the Sydney-Australian League. The true genesis of Australian federation is to be found in the formation of the Australian League which initially comprised Victoria and Tasmania but later included New South Wales and South Australia. West's role was central. He founded the precursor to the League, the
